Benefits of ward system debated

By JoDe Rimar
Staff Writer

An increase in minority representation, better candidates and a larger voter turn-out is what the ward-aldermanic system promises, said Glenn Richardson, an SIU-C graduate student and teaching assistant in political science.

Richardson, along with city councilman and SIU-C law professor Patrick Kelley debated which system, ward-aldermanic or at-large, works best for Carbondale Friday night during an educational forum at the City Council chambers, sponsored by the Jackson County League of Women Voters and the Carbondale Business and Professional Women.

Kelley, who argued for the present at-large system, said the present system works for Carbondale.

As far as the ward-system producing "better candidates," Kelley, using Murphysboro as an example, said that with the present system, Carbondale produces more candidates than Murphysboro.

Murphysboro, which presently uses the ward system, has two candidate openings for each of its five wards. In this election a total of four candidates are running for those five wards.

Carbondale, in its primary, had 13 candidates for three positions; two council positions and one mayoral position.

"Where there's diversity, at-large (elections) tends to discriminate," Richardson said.

Because Carbondale is small but diverse, Richardson said, the at-large elections tend to discriminate against minorities. Specifically in Carbondale against blacks in the northeast side of town and the students, he said.

"If it's not broke don't fix it," is one argument people use for keeping the at-large system, Richardson said.

"Because the system works well doesn't mean it can't work better," he said.

Council to act on rezoning, subdivision

By JoDe Rimar
Staff Writer

The City Council is expected to turn down a request tonight by Micheal Wadiak to rezone property, owned by First Federal Savings and Loan Association on South Poplar Street from R-1-5, low density residential, to R-3, high density residential.

Because a petition was filed by residents neighboring the property the council will be required to pass the proposal by four votes.

The council is also expected to approve a rezoning request by Dan Stevens for property on East Walnut to be rezoned from R-2 to R-3.

The council is also expected to:

—Act on approving a University Place Subdivision plat.

—Approve amendments to a Planned Unit Development for Meadow Ridge Phases I and II.

In new business the council is expected to review a report on House Bill 244 which would authorize direct deposit through electronic funds transfer and review a proposed agreement with Jackson County for engineering service on McCafferty Reservoir road improvements.

The council meets at 7 p.m. tonight at council chambers, 609 East College St.

4 vehicles fall after New York bridge collapses

FONDA, N.Y. (UPI) — A 200-foot section of a bridge on the New York Thruway collapsed Sunday and witnesses said four vehicles plunged 80 feet into a rain-flooded creek below, officials said. The bridge apparently had been washed out by the swift current.

There was no immediate word on any casualties. Divers were on the scene but could not search the Schoharie Creek because its current was too swift, state police Maj. Edward Vanderwall said.

Thruway Authority spokesman Arthur D'Isabel quoted witnesses as saying three cars and a tractor-trailer plunged from the Schoharie Bridge, 40 miles northwest of Albany, into the deep, rain-swollen creek when the pavement crumbled, but only two vehicles could be seen in the water.

"We're still not sure (how many vehicles may have fallen from the bridge)," Vanderwall said.

State police agreed that the heavy rains appeared to have washed out the bridge.

Tax hikes needed for prisons, officials say

By David Sheets

Menard Correctional Center could close if Gov. James Thompson's tax increase plan isn't approved by the Illinois General Assembly, a state Department of Corrections spokesman said Friday.

If not Menard, then Pontiac could face a complete shutdown, IDOC Director Michael Lane said during a media

State Fairgrounds.

"We're not talking about a temporary closure," he said, and stressed that Menard's closing alone would put more than 900 people out of work.

He said Menard's age and maintenance difficulties qualified it for possible closure and added that a final decision between Menard and Pontiac is yet to be made. Lane stressed, however, that the

Unless the tax increases are approved, "you'll pay for it ultimately in a much more serious way," Lane cautioned his audience.

Amal militia agrees to lift siege of Palestinian camps

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Shiite Amal militiamen agreed Sunday to lift a 5-month-old siege of three Palestinian camps in Lebanon that brought many refugees to the edge of starvation, militia leaders said. Amal leaders reached agreement with the pro-Syrian Palestine Salvation Front during a two-hour, Syrian-mediated meeting in west Beirut to end months of fighting that has come to be known as the "Camps War."

Police deter Chinese student protests

BEIJING (UPI) — Some 100 police cordoned off central Tiananmen Square for several hours Sunday, apparently to keep students from conducting illegal demonstrations on the 11th anniversary of an anti-government riot. There were no reports of protests in Beijing or other Chinese cities despite unsigned pamphlets circulating in the capital urging students to use the anniversary of the April 5, 1976, Tiananmen Square protests to revive December's pro-democracy demonstrations.

Fires break out in Philippine hotel, cafe

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Fires erupted less than an hour apart in a six-floor hotel and an outdoor cafe in Manila's tourist district Sunday night, killing at least one person in the hotel, firefighters said. Hundreds of tourists, go-go dancers, hotel guests and apartment dwellers fled into the streets of the downtown Ermita district as fire swept through the open-air Raymond's fast food cafe followed by a blaze at Aurelio's Hotel one block away.

France says six Soviets expelled for spying

PARIS (UPI) — France last week expelled six Soviet citizens suspected of spying on the European Ariane rocket program, three more than previously announced, the foreign ministry said Sunday. The French announcement clarified what appeared to be an escalation by the Soviet Union Saturday in a retaliatory war of diplomatic expulsions. The French foreign Ministry announced Friday it had expelled three Soviet diplomats for spying. The Soviets, appearing to raise the ante, retaliated Saturday by expelling six French citizens from Moscow.

Reagan admits Soviets bugged embassy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, responding to a report that the new U.S. embassy in Moscow already contains Soviet bugging devices, said Sunday if the situation cannot be remedied, "we obviously wouldn't move in." Speaking in Ottawa, where he arrived for a 24-hour summit with Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney, Reagan said the United States has known for several years that the embassy was being bugged.

Marine's lawyer says charges fabricated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A lawyer for a Marine embassy guard in Moscow accused of espionage called the charges "fabrications" and said Sunday that the guards were encouraged to "relieve their tensions" with Soviet women. Speaking on CBS's "Face the Nation," Michael V. Stuhff, attorney for Sgt. Clayton Lonetree, denied that he allowed Soviet spies to wander around the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, including the embassy's top-secret and highly sensitive communications "bubble."

Marine Corps looking into grade-fixing

DETROIT (UPI) — The Marine Corps is investigating the source of five faked transcripts from a Detroit high school that were used to help young men qualify for the corps. The Detroit News, in a copyright story Sunday, said it obtained transcripts that turned out to be fabricated. School officials confirmed the report. Marine Corps recruiting officials viewed the five transcripts and said all five young men had been accepted in the Marine Corps.

EPA studying toxic fallout from fire

MINOT, N.D. (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency is investigating possible contaminated fallout from a chemical fire that forced about 10,000 residents to flee the toxic fumes, authorities said Sunday. The fire began when a pickup truck overheated and burst into flames inside a warehouse leased by Westchem Agricultural Chemicals, police said. Nearly all of those evacuated after the fire broke out about 11 a.m. Saturday have returned home, said police Sgt. Larry Baklenko. At least 37 people, including police and firefighters, were taken to hospitals for treatment of nausea, vomiting, watery eyes, sore throats and stinging lungs, authorities said. All were released by Saturday night.

Pollution Control workers use straw to absorb an oil spill Friday at Campus Lake. Pollution Control Director John Meister said that about five gallons of fuel oil, used to heat Greek Row buildings, leaked into a storm sewer that feeds into the lake. The leak occurred while Hines Oil Co. was refilling an oil tank, Meister said. Damage to the lake was not serious, he said.

Education, not charity, way to beat hunger, expert says

By William Brady
Staff Writer

The premise of the United Nations World Food Program is that if you give a man a fish, he will eat for a single day; if you teach him to fish, he will eat for his life, Mahaman Balla, the program's liaison officer, said.

Balla, an SIU-C graduate, spoke to University U.N. Simulation Association members and guests as part of the group's 23rd annual mock conference Friday at the Student Center.

In keeping with its premise, the World Food Program has used food as an instrument to rehabilitate and support economic growth in less developed countries.

Before food aid is provided by the U.N. program, strategies for food self-sufficiency have to be implemented, Balla said.

Strategies include training programs, economic reform, soil conservation and family planning, he said.

Such strategies are necessary to avoid the "Maltusian syndrome," where dependency without incentives for self-sufficiency has increased hunger, he said.

The World Food Program also takes the political pulse of the recipient country before providing food aid, Balla said.

"By providing the right international support during the right domestic climate, even the poorest countries can eliminate the food problem," he said.

Since its inception in 1963, the World Food Program has provided $6.8 billion in food and $2.2 billion in cash to less developed countries. More than 1,300 programs in 100-plus countries have received aid from the program.

Funding for the program is provided by donations, of which 94 percent is distributed for aid and 6 percent for administrative costs.

Pope cheered by Chilean miners

CONCEPCION, Chile (UPI) — Miners in yellow helmets cheered Pope John Paul II Sunday as he defended workers' rights at an outdoor mass for 450,000. Security was tight to prevent renewed anti-government violence that has marked the pontiff's visit to Chile.

The pope spoke on a platform in Concepcion decorated with a mound of coal, symbolizing the key industry of the region, a center of opposition to President Augusto Pinochet's military government.

"I know your legitimate union demands in defense of your rights," John Paul said in his sermon two days after violence broke out during an outdoor mass in Santiago. "You must not forget that rights also entail the fulfillment of certain duties."

The pontiff assured the cheering miners in yellow hard hats that he recognized their dignity as human beings and Christians and understood the difficulty of unemployment.

"The prolonged unemployment of some many workers, here and in other parts of the world, is an ethical problem because it is a symptom of a moral disorder in society," he said.

There was no trouble during the open-air mass, but after the pope left many in the crowd booed and jeered at mounted police who were sent to prevent any demonstrations.

The pontiff then traveled to the agricultural town of Temuco to meet with descendants of the fierce Mapuche Indians who fought off Spanish conquerors and their Roman Catholic priests for nearly 300 years.

Speaking from a podium decorated with native designs, the pontiff urged big landowners to give landless peasants a "better future with progressive access to land."

John Paul later flew to the Pacific Coast desert city of La Serena where he met with 70,000 people, many of them miners and gold prospectors from the nearby mountains, who put on a show of religious folk dances.

In Concepcion, an industrial city of 500,000 about 330 miles south of Santiago, police at checkpoints searched worshippers and seized banners and objects that could be used as weapons.

ELECT John W. Mills

Candidate for Carbondale City Council

STANDING FOR THE FUTURE

- Growth
- Economic Development
- Essential Services
- Maintenance & Expansion

Vote April 7th

Paid for by the Committee to Elect
John W. Mills

Candidates fail to address the issues

VOTERS IN THE city of Carbondale will be asked to decide tomorrow whom they favor to fill two City Council seats and the office of mayor. Unfortunately, the four council and two mayoral candidates have provided voters with little on which to base their decisions.

The makeup of the next City Council will be crucial to the fate of many important issues facing the city. But the candidates have failed to adequately address the issues, and when it comes to making a choice between candidates, we find ourselves in as difficult a position as the voters.

Therefore, the Daily Egyptian is unable to endorse any of the candidates.

IN CANDIDATE DEBATES and interviews with local news media, the candidates have made vague references to "progress," "development" and other catch phrases that they hope will woo voters. But they have been mostly silent on how these goals would be achieved.

Instead, the candidates have spent a lot of time dwelling on what they are opposed to and have failed to present viable solutions to the problems they have identified. Three of the council candidates and mayoral candidate Neil Dillard are opposed to a ward-alderman form of city government. But what if the referendum passes, or, if it doesn't, what if the city is sued? The candidates have not addressed those scenarios.

Mayoral candidate Norvell Haynes has spoken out against the railroad relocation project. But, Mr. Haynes, what is the city to do, abandon the project outright and lose the money already spent on it? And just how is the city to remedy traffic snarls caused by trains passing through?

Two of the council candidates and Haynes oppose the proposed east-west couple, which would make West Walnut Street between Oakland and University avenues an east-bound, one-way section of Illinois 13. But what should be done to eliminate the very real problem of traffic congestion in the city? The candidates don't seem to have a clue.

BESIDES THEIR FAILURE to seriously consider the issues, the candidates have acted as if there were no political campaign going on in Carbondale. Besides a few scattered yard signs and newspaper ads, the candidates have exerted little effort in trying to get their messages (or, rather, non-messages) out to voters.

In short, this year's city election seems plagued by a lack of interest on the candidates' part. Voters still have an obligation to vote, and since the candidates seem to have forgotten their obligations, they will undoubtedly have a tough time making their decisions.

We wish them luck.

Quotable Quotes

"People seem to fear the referendum, saying it will cause divisiveness. The purpose of government is to resolve disputes, not avoid them. It's better to have more active dissension, to enliven the discussion." — Glen Richardson, SIU-C graduate student, in a forum on the ward-alderman referendum.

"I think any conscientious voter could vote against the referendum on Tuesday. I think the (at-large) system has, in fact, worked well in Carbondale and I see no good reason to change it." — Councilman Patrick Kelley, defending the at-large system of electing council members.

Summer school program cut-backs are unfair to students and faculty

Registration for summer school is just getting started. Only a few students have been in to see me to register for summer school. However, in two cases, the students found that the courses printed in the summer schedule that they needed to graduate had been cancelled. This means that these students will have to try to find summer employment somewhere and return to Carbondale in the fall. This also means these students will be delayed entry into the job market for a whole year since it is unlikely that a teacher can find a job in January.

One of these students asked me if I would give the cancelled course needed to graduate as a private reading. This really put me in an embarrassing position. I felt I had to refuse because I cannot afford to teach at SIU-C for free. Why should SIU-C put me in the position of looking like a callous, uncaring heel?

Those people who have been at SIU-C for a few years may remember the letters I put in the Daily Egyptian when then Vice President Horton told me that when I agreed to serve on M.A. thesis and Ph.D.

dissertation committees during the school year, I also agreed to work with students in the summer for no pay. My letter in the Daily Egyptian stated that I would not do so and that I was taking summer employment elsewhere. To those students who expected to graduate this summer and who find the classes they expected to take this summer cancelled, I have only one suggestion. Write Springfield and force SIU-C to stop its plans for eliminating summer school. —

James E. Redden, professor of linguistics.

Why do foreign students remain isolated?

Foreign students at SIU-C basically don't make any effort to assimilate into the University's structure. On any average day you can take a walk to the Student Center, and you will see a group of foreigners congregating just as you enter the door near the bowling alley. As you approach, they stop speaking English and begin using a foreign language to exclude you from the conversation.

My question to the University is, why do you think these foreign students have decided to isolate themselves from the mainstream enrollment of Southern Illinois University? Perhaps they know that the only right thing in this University is the white thing, or perhaps they are smarter than the average white and feel that they cannot communicate with such a racist race. Who knows why they isolate themselves, but they appear to be very content in isolation from the rigid, cold, blunt racism that SIU-C has presented to the minority students.

P.S. Any foreign student, please reply to my questions. — Ernest Brown, junior, administration of justice.

Bonus point system can provide equity

This letter is written to protest the proposal for elimination of service points for civil service employees. The State of Illinois Civil Service Merit Board is meeting April 6 at the SIU-C Student Center to consider this proposal. These service bonus points are used by current civil service employees, especially women and minorities, to gain access to better paying positions.

We object to the amendment to the State Universities Civil Service System rules because, as pointed out in a Statement of Objection by the Joint Committee on Administrative rules, Illinois General Assembly, the State Universities Civil Service System has failed to provide adequate justification and rationale for the elimination of service points.

Many civil service employees have expressed their objections to the proposed change by signing petitions and writing letters.

The elimination of service bonus points does not guarantee that the hindrance to the achievement of affirmative action gains will be removed. Blacks, females, and other minorities within the system would lose their only advantage over those entering the system for the first time in obtaining a position in a new promotional line.

Keep service bonus points. — Robbi Calvert, secretary, airport operations, and seven others.

WIDB finally settled into new home

By Karen D. Wells
Staff Writer

WIDB, SIU-C's campus radio station, has finally nestled into its new home — the fourth floor of the Student Center — according to WIDB General Manager Tim Huelsing. The station moved March 23.

Huelsing said the dream has finally come true after three years of postponing the station's move from the basement of Wright Hall I, on east campus. He said the move was delayed because of the bidding process, construction involved, and a delay in the delivery of the station's equipment. Soundproofing also had to be reconstructed because it was not properly installed, he added.

He said the move was proposed by the Student Programming Council in 1983 when it became fiscally responsible for WIDB.

Huelsing said the design, wiring, and purchase of the station's equipment was done by the WIDB student staff. He said all other work was done by maintenance and construction personnel.

"The renovation project for the whole fourth floor was in the ballpark of $260,000," Huelsing said. He said the money was allocated from student fees, which is set aside for projects such as this.

He said the station's atmosphere is bigger and better now that it has carpet, conference rooms, and offices. The station also has a new broadcast console, a device disc jockeys use to develop programming content, such as news, commercials and music.

In the future, he said, dorm residents will be able to get better reception of the station's programming because of an addition of FM cable. He said the addition of the cable will eliminate the "buzzing-hum" sound heard on the AM dial. Off-campus residents who have cable television can obtain the station's programming for a minimal fee of $2, he added.

John Corker, director of the Student Center said he is "pleased to see the station move into the Student Center."

He said it will take the remainder of the semester for the station to really become adjusted to the transition. "By fall semester," he said, "WIDB will be first in the system (compared to other campuses' radio stations)."

Balloons launch health celebration

By Tracy Bartoni
Staff Writer

Eight hundred freed, jelly-bean colored balloons and a parade of international flags were part of the opening ceremony for the ISC Cup '87 and marked the beginning of the World Health Day events Saturday at the playfields south of the Student Recreation Center.

World Health Day has been held on April 7 every year since 1948 to commemorate the day when countries ratified the constitution of the World Health Organization, said Joyce Craven, chairwoman for World Health Day.

The theme for World Health Day this year is "Healthy Living: Everyone a Winner."

"The program focuses on sensible patterns of life and underlines positive steps that the individual and community can take to protect and promote our well being,"

Craven said.

There are three elements to this year's events, Craven said, exercise and sports, nutrition and self-responsibility.

Fabian De Rozario, president of the International Student Council, said the ceremony was a coordinated effort between the ISC and the World Health Day planning committee.

Teams participating in the ISC Cup '87, an international soccer tournament, include the Latin American Student Association, Malaysia A and B, Arab United, Iran, Nigeria, United Nations, Saudi Arabia, Greece, Cyprus and Laos.

Games will be held on Saturdays and Sundays through May 3, at the playfields, starting at 10 a.m. Tournament sponsors are the SIU-C International Student Council, Intramural Recreational Sports and the SIU-C Health Service.

The Alzheimer's challenge

Victims' families told how to deal with deadly disease

By Tracy Bartoni
Staff Writer

No one is immune to it. It cannot be cured. It can be treated. Alzheimer's disease, a condition in which the brain's tissue progressively deteriorates, can strike anyone. About 2.5 million American adults suffer from Alzheimer's. Delyte W. Morris, acclaimed president of SIU-C from 1948 to 1970, died from Alzheimer's disease.

NURSING HOME administrators and family members of those afflicted with the disease participated in a teleconference about Alzheimer's disease Thursday night at the Ramada Inn in Carbondale.

Fifty percent of nursing homes residents have Alzheimer's or related brain disorders that involve some form of dementia, said Dan Marsh, geriatric counselor for Jackson County Community Mental Health Center.

HE SAID 2 percent of people between the ages of 65 and 80 suffer from some type of dementia that is associated with Alzheimer's disease.

The beginning symptom of the disease is memory loss which seems minor at first, but becomes progressively more severe, according to a pamphlet about Alzheimer's disease published by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

A person may forget where he has placed something, forget to turn off the oven, may recheck to see if a task has been completed or repeat already answered questions, the pamphlet said.

AS THE disease progresses, memory loss becomes worse, the pamphlet said. The afflicted experience agitation, confusion, irritability, and restlessness. Changes in personality, judgement and behavior occur.

The Alzheimer's victim's speech, concentration and judgement are affected. In the most severe cases, victims may be unable to care for themselves, the pamphlet said.

The rate of the progression of the disease varies from person to person, the pamphlet said, some may deteriorate faster than others.

HOWEVER, SOME people may have the symptoms of Alzheimer's, but not have the disease, said Peter Rabins, a doctor participating in the teleconference.

"About 5 percent of people presented to a doctor with these symptoms of deterioration in their thinking might have a treatable disease. The first step is to have a good medical evaluation in which we look for this treatable disorder."

"The second thing is that even when we find the person suffering from the disorder that we don't have a specific cure for, we can often make a difference in treating him."

"The third thing is that it doesn't tell us about the future. Some conditions progress and some don't," Rabins said.

LISA GWYTHYR, participant in the teleconference and author of "Care of Alzheimer's Patients," said people should consider the effect Alzheimer's disease has on the family of the person suffering from the disease. She said the family may be experiencing fear, disbelief, shame, embarrassment and guilt.

"Early symptoms look like a psychiatric illness," Gwyther said. "They seem to be best tolerated by the family and the patient if they can be identified as symptoms of an illness, not as a character flaw, a sign of weakness of will or definite manipulation."

GWYTHYR SAID there is no one right way to deal with one experiencing dementia. She recommends a broad approach to managing behavior.

One should think in advance of what to do on the spot, how to handle their own reactions and ways to change the environment to decrease the occurrence of the behavior, she said.

"Their behavior is variable. What works this morning may not work this evening." She said Alzheimer's patients can't be taught to remember recent events, but their lives can be enriched in the moment, and performing simple tasks can add to their functioning and happiness.

SHE RECOMMENDED not arguing with the patient, repeating questions when they forget, being patient, keeping calm and keeping extra sets of keys, for instance, in case the person hides things, which they may do. Family members should also seek help from support groups and find quiet time for themselves, Gwyther said, because living with someone who has Alzheimer's is very stressful.

In caring for those with Alzheimer's, one should ask the question "Who are we trying to benefit?" Rabins said. "Are we trying to benefit the nursing home, the family or society at large? Primarily we're trying to help the patient," he said.

absolutely no guarantee whatsoever that the diverse interest in this community will be represented on the City Council, or for that matter anything to prevent the entire City Council to reside in the same part of town." Richardson said.

Proof that minority groups can be represented on the council lies in the fact that Archie Jones, a former council member from the northeast side, represented the northeast community from 1969 to 1985 or 16 of the 20 years the council has elected representatives at-large, Kelley said.

"The other minority, the students, don't vote," Kelley said. With the size of the student population, which is 14,000 or roughly 50 percent of the total size of Carbondale, "if students ever want to control city government, they can," he said.

With these factors in the City Council's history, proving "purposeful discrimination" and unconstitutionality of the at-large system as was proven in Springfield, is unlikely, said Kelley.

"A conscientious voter does not have to be concerned that he or she would be voting for an illegal system, under the constitution of the United States or the Federal Voting Acts of 1965 as amended in 1982," Kelley said.

Because Carbondale, with its population of about 26,000, is around the size of a ward in a big city, Kelley said, dividing it might produce people pursuing "faction interest."

fiscal year 1988 budgets based on their fiscal year 1987 budgets, with no new money allocated.

Robert Mandeville, Illinois budget director, said this practice allows the state to "look at the entire structure of an organization and cut out what's less damaging." Mandeville was on hand to explain Thompson's budget to the press.

Lane said he "thought our current budget was marginally adequate without cuts." The governor has recommended a $449 million budget for fiscal year 1988 for the IDOC, 8.5 percent or $35 million more than fiscal year 1987, provided the tax increases are approved.

According to Thompson's budget proposal, Illinois adult inmate population is expected to reach 20,403 by fiscal year 1988's end, while the inmate capacity level is at 20,641. About 2,500 of them are in Menard, 1,000 more than Lane says he would like.

He said he wasn't sure what the state would do with the prisoners if either Menard or Pontiac closed. "But I'll tell you one thing, those inmates won't go away," Lane said.

'Annie' to be performed for the deaf

The Southern Illinois Parents for the Hearing Impaired will sponsor the first of two performances of the musical "Annie" at 7:30 tonight at the Student Center, Ballroom D. The second performance will be at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Center also.

The musical will be presented through the use of sign language and voice for both hearing impaired and hearing audiences.

Tickets for both performances will be $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children and students. There will be a 10 percent discount on group sales of 10 or more.

Tickets may be purchased at the Student Center Central Ticket Office, the Marion School for the Hearing Impaired and at the door.

For information, call James Jackson or John Corker at 536-3351.

Clarification

Dillard of 500 S. Oakland, supports the at-large system used to elect members to the City Council, but he said he feels a decision to change it should be left up to the voters.

A ward-alderman system, proposed in a referendum in the April 7 election, could result in seven people trying to represent their own wards instead of the whole city, he said. A mayor also should not have veto power over the city council, Dillard, a member of the council, said.

Going-to-college fever hits peak levels at open house

By Laura Milbrath
Staff Writer

David Cone emerged from the University Bookstore on Saturday, triumphantly waving his shopping bag. He had just purchased a maroon and white SIU cap and was bursting with pride.

Cone's son, also named David, will be entering SIU-C in the fall as a freshman. The Cones, of Rockford, were excited as they explored the Student Center during Saturday's Open House.

"I feel blessed that we have an opportunity to send our son here," Cone said. "I'm really impressed with the facilities and the people."

The Open House provided an opportunity for next year's freshmen and transfer students to tour the campus, learn about the programs and services available and register for classes.

"We expect to register up to 1,000 students," said Debbie Perry, coordinator for Campus Programs at the New Student Admission Services.

Along with the students who had already been admitted to SIU-C, there were quite a few prospective students exploring the campus. Perry estimated that counting all of the students and their family members, nearly 3,600 people attended the Open House.

There were special sessions in the Student Center Auditorium to explain the procedures for being advised and registering for classes for freshman and transfer students.

An orientation program for parents was a new feature added to this year's Open House. Student Life representatives spoke to the parents about support programs at SIU-C and student activities their children might be interested in joining.

Departmental representatives were available at exhibits in the Student Center Ballrooms A, B and C to speak about the academic departments. Information was also available on housing and student organizations.

Derek Stancik, a high school senior from Glenwood, browsed through some pamphlets about the different housing options with interest.

Stancik will be entering SIU-C in the fall and plans to major in Engineering. After viewing the campus, Stancik thought it was quite big and a little scary but "I'm not really afraid," he said. "It's just so different."

The younger David Cone, who will be studying Aviation in the fall, said of SIU-C, "I love it. I think it's one of the prettiest campuses I've ever been to. I don't think I've ever seen a campus with a lake and woods on it."

Most of the students who attended the Open House had already been admitted to SIU-C and had made appointments to be advised and to register on Saturday. However, some walk-in appointments were available.

Some students were admitted to SIU-C at the Open House if they could present qualifying documents, Perry said.

After exploring the campus and learning about some of the programs and activities at SIU-C, Tom Klapperich from McHenry was more excited than ever about next year. Klapperich, who will be studying Aviation in the fall, said "Now, I can't wait to get out of high school."

Our Constitution was born out of a cacophony of competing voices.

But today the freedom of speech that remains the hallmark of our Constitution may be threatened.

The NAAAF Essay Contest is designed to emphasize the importance of free speech and open debate in a vital area.

In his best-selling book, They Dare to Speak Out: People and Institutions Confront Israel's Lobby, former Congressman Paul Findley sounds an alarm: "It is clear that many Americans do not feel they can speak freely on one of the most complicated and challenging current issues: The Arab-Israeli dispute."

Is he right? What do you think?

Full time college and university students are invited to submit a critical essay of 2,500 words or less on the subject "The Development of American Middle East Policy: Is Free Speech Threatened?"

There will be 200 regional winners of $1,000 each and 10 national winners of an additional $4,000 each.

The contest is sponsored by the NAAA Foundation, a charitable organization which carries out educational programs on Middle East subjects.

Television commentator Tom Braden serves as Honorary Chairman of the Selection Committee. Distinguished columnist Carl Rowan is Awards Chairman.

Dance ban puts prom out of town

ABILENE, Texas (UPI) — "There Ain't no Dancin' in Anson" was the theme song for about 80 Anson High School students forced by a ban on public dancing in their West Texas town to travel 26 miles for their prom.

The students spent a quiet night in self-exile Friday to escape the 1933 prohibition strongly supported by Anson area fundamentalist ministers who contend dancing leads to sin.

The ban is lifted only once a year, for the Cowboys' Christmas Ball.

A.J. Chaloupka, sales director at Abilene's Embassy Suites Hotel, where the dance was held, said the kids at Anson prom were significantly better behaved than those from Abilene schools.

Following the school-sponsored dinner at the hotel, the partitions opened to the dance floor and the music began. Among the tunes was an original by Paul Davidson, "There Ain't no Dancin' in Anson."

Easter fashions paraded at mall

By Catherine Simpson
Staff Writer

Remember when you were younger and Easter not only meant a basketful of candy and a new stuffed bunny, but also a new outfit to wear to church?

Some of those fashions were highlighted at Easter fashion shows Saturday and Sunday at the University Mall.

For the women, the Easter fashions were reflections of the current trends: prairie skirts, petticoats, chambray and lace. The most popular colors were peach, pink and other pastel colors. Even classic dresses were accented with lace or embroidery.

Dresses featured were made of silk, chambray, linen-look, polyester or cotton blends. The styles of the dresses varied from classics with gold buttons to cotton short skirts. Several drop-waisted dresses were shown.

Accessories for women included netted hats, small beads or diamond necklaces and matching pastel or white handbags and shoes.

For men, colorful jackets in blue, coral, white and other bright colors with white or black slacks were featured. Men's shirts shown were white, pastel, or plaid. White or other colorful ties also were worn.

The highlight of the show was the parade of children's fashions. The traditional white or pastel ruffled dresses, hats with dangling ribbons, and white patent leather shoes were worn by the girls. Boys wore grey or green suits with pastel shirts. The children's fashions were provided by J.C. Penney Co. Inc.

The Easter Bunny arrived at the fashion show Sunday and will be at the mall through April 18 for photographs with children.

Stores participating in the show were: Susie's Casuals, Ups 'N' Downs, Kirney Shoes, J.C. Penney Co. Inc., Worth's, Stuarts, Connie Shoes, Lots To Love, Foxmoor Casuals, Meis Store, Union Jack, The Closet, Casual Corner, Zwick's Concept 2 and Leslie's Shoes Inc. Women netters split weekend action

By Wally Foreman
Staff Writer

Everything that happened to the Saluki women's tennis team came in pairs this past weekend as the netters won two dual matches, lost two dual matches and had two players suffer injuries.

The injuries occurred on Thursday in a dual match against Murray State, which the netters lost 3-6.

Sue Steuby, No. 4 singles player, was playing the third game of her match when she had to default because of a pulled neck muscle. SIUC coach Judy Auld said Steuby should be back in one week.

Julie Burgess, No. 6 singles player, now has tendinitis in her left shoulder. Auld said Burgess will be questionable the rest of the season.

Salukis Ellen Moellering and Beth Boardman, No. 1 doubles, won as a doubles team and also won their singles matches at the No. 1 and No. 3 singles positions, respectively.

On Friday the Salukis lost to Memphis State 2-7.

"We were not at full strength and our morale was down," Auld said.

Once again Moellering and Boardman won the No. 1 doubles match. Boardman also won at the No. 3 singles spot.

On Saturday the Salukis won both of their dual matches. First they beat Middle Tennessee State 8-1 and then defeated Southern Mississippi 7-2.

In the match against Middle Tennessee State, the Salukis won all six singles matches. Moellering and Boardman won the No. 1 doubles match, and the No. 3 doubles team of Sherri Knight and Maria Coch also won.

Auld had Burgess play with Dana Cherebetiu at the No. 2 doubles spot in a match that saw Burgess tire, causing Auld to default the match.

In the match against

Southern Mississippi, Cherebetiu at No. 2 singles, Coch at No. 4 singles, Knight at No. 5 and Patsy Hoskins at No. 6 all won.

Boardman, No. 3 singles, went undefeated in singles play with a 4-0 record.

In the doubles matches Cherebetiu and Coch, No. 2, and No. 3 Knight and Hoskins notched wins.

Moellering and Boardman, No. 1 doubles, split two matches 4-6, 6-4 before deciding the match with a 12-point tie-breaker due to the cold weather. Moellering and Boardman lost the tie-breaker and the match.

"We felt better at the end because we were able to pull out a couple of wins and finish on a positive note," Auld said.

Rugbers boot Lincoln Park, 9-8

By Greg Huber
Staff Writer

Derrick Spalt's kicking, combined with a friendly wind, boosted the men's rugby record to 3-0 after defeating Lincoln Park 9-8 Saturday at the rugby pitch behind Abe Martin Field.

Although sunny and mild, strong crosswinds, favoring Lincoln Park in the first half, helped SIUC in the second half as Spalt blasted a 35-meter drop kick to score the winning points with about 16 minutes remaining. Lincoln Park's offense dominated the first half, keeping pressure on the SIUC defense until they were rewarded with the first try of the game.

Spalt then put SIUC on the board with his first kick, making the score 4-3 for Lincoln Park.

Lincoln Park came back with a strong offense to notch another try to put them up 8-3 at the half.

The second half belonged to SIUC. Unable to get by Lincoln Park's defense, Spalt, with precision kicking, scored two more kicks to take the lead from Lincoln Park.

Good defense and teamwork won the day as SIUC repulsed the scrappy Lincoln Parkers in their nearly successful attempt to score in the final minutes of the game.

Lincoln Park was awarded a penalty kick for a high tackle with 12 minutes left, but the kick against the wind was no good.

Because of the wind, the match showed more kicking and running than scrimmaging, with a lot of fast, hard-hitting tackles.

"Those guys hit, I didn't think I was gonna live," a bloodied Dave Wolfgram said after the game.

Cliff Mc Intosh opened the game for SIU-C but was pulled after 1-2-3 innings of play saw the Bluejays scoring four runs on five hits and two walks. Shane Gooden came on in relief, but gave way to Robert Fleming after allowing two more Creighton runs.

Saluki offensive leaders included Limperis, who went 3-4 on the day, Chuck Locke (2-3) and David Wrona (2-4). Locke and Wrona each had 2 RBI.

The Salukis opened the four-game series with a victory and closed it the same way, defeating the Bluejays 13-8.

place third in her event with 4,669 points behind Missouri's Terri LeBlanc (5,084) and SEMO's Lizz Barringer (5,040). Saluki coach Don DeNoon said before the meet he expected Anderson to break 5,000 points in the seven-event contest.

The tough SEmotion field saw few Salukis place while the cold weather, with the temperature a windy 46 degrees, made competing difficult for the athletes. Track officials reported a rash of minor injuries among the athletes, and Saluki Angie Nunn went down early in the meet with a hamstring pull.

Field specialist Rhonda McCausland finished third in the discus (134-8) behind former Saluki standout Connie Price (179-4½) and Eastern Illinois' Kristi Baum (135-9).

McCausland finished fourth in the javelin with a throw of 123-2½, while Price also won the shot put with a meet-record toss of 57-2, almost nine feet ahead of Eastern's Valeta Strickland at 48-2½.

In the hurdles, Saluki Felicia Veal finished fourth in the 400-meters (1:04.00) while teammate Kathy Raske finished fourth in the 100-meters (14.23).

SIU-C's long distance standout Vivian Sinou ran into stiff competition from two Purdue runners in the 3,000-meter run, and ended up in fourth place (9:45.7) behind Andrea Paolillo of Purdue (9:27.00), Laura Byrne of Southwest Missouri State (9:31.9) and Purdue's Sally Smith (9:34.2).

The Saluki 4 x 200-meter relay team also placed, coming in fourth in 1:40.43.

Baseball Salukis beat Creighton for 21st win

By M.J. Starshak
Staff Writer

The Saluki baseball team opened Missouri Valley Conference play this weekend by taking three of four games from the Creighton Bluejays (16-11). SIU-C pitching aces Dale Kisten (5-1) and Todd Neibel (3-1) threw full games to earn the first two victories.

The 21-6 Salukis have won 12 of their last 14 games. SIU-C knocked off the Bluejays 3-2 in the opener and 5-2 in the nightcap of Saturday's doubleheader.

Charlie Hillemann was the key to the Salukis' offense in game one. The junior outfielder went 5-9 in the game including his first game-winning RBI of the season.

Kisten, who earned a 5-1 victory over the Bluejays last season, allowed seven hits, two walks and struck out 11 in Saturday's first game. Kisten leads the pitchers in strikeouts with 36.

Creighton's main offensive power was exhibited by first baseman Dave Fleita, who hit his fourth home run of the year. Prior to the game, the junior was hitting .387 and leading the Bluejays with 35 RBIs.

The loss went to the Bluejays' Brad Kucera (2-1).

Saluki senior first baseman Jim Limperis drove in his sixth game-winning RBI of the year in game two. Freshman Brad Hollencamp aided the Saluki effort by knocking in his first homer of the year.

The Bluejays, who had previously beaten powerhouse teams Miami and Maine, committed four errors in the nightcap, but stayed in the game with a two-run homer by center fielder Bill Meier. The Creighton junior entered the game hitting .391 with 16 RBIs and one home run.

Neibel, who suffered an 8-5 loss to Creighton last season, allowed five hits and struck out five in the second game of the twin bill. The senior right-hander tied his season's best strikeout total.

Pitcher Russ Menczywor (2-1) got the loss for Creighton.

Men's track and field coach Bill Cornell said he was happy with the team's performance Friday and Saturday at the SEmotion Relays in Cape Girardeau, Mo., and even the University of Illinois coach noticed the Saluki tracksters improvement since an indoor meet at Champaign in February.

"He (the Illinois coach) said the team had outstanding morale at the meet, and that means a lot coming from another coach," Cornell said after Saturday's action.

Ron Harrer and Demetris Theocharus were the highest individual finishers for the Salukis.

Harrer finished second in the discus with a toss of 172 feet, 7 inches. Harrer also placed third in the javelin with an effort of 187-8 $\frac{3}{4}$ and fifth in the hammer throw at 160-4 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Former SIU-C standout Tom Smith, competing unattached, won the hammer throw competition with a toss of 184-2 $\frac{1}{2}$. Theocharus tied for second in the high jump with a leap of 6-10.

Jack Shepard was third in the 10,000-meter run with a time of 30:48.9 minutes, while Gerard Horan finished fourth in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles in 54 seconds. Brian Bradley placed fifth in the long jump with a leap of 23-5 $\frac{1}{4}$.

Shane Weber set a personal record for this outdoor season in the pole vault by clearing 16 feet.

In the decathlon, which consists of 10 events, Larry Holloway placed fifth with 5,879 points and teammate David Wallace finished seventh with 5,748.

The distance medley relay team of Billy Darling, Kevin Steele, Bret Garrett and Andy Pettigrew finished second with a time of 9:55.5.

The 4 x 800-meter relay team of Craig Steele, Pettigrew, Jobe Kelly and Garrett placed fifth with a time of 7:49.56.

Hagler favored to beat Leonard by 11th round

By Dave Raffo

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Once the last closed circuit TV ticket is sold Monday night, Sugar Ray Leonard will be reduced to playing a supporting role to Marvin Hagler.

Leonard brought marquee value to his World Boxing Council middleweight title challenge against Hagler, making it the richest fight in the sport's history.

Leonard is responsible for world-wide interest and record ticket sales, but Hagler will take over when the bell rings. He always does, and that will make him the winner in the 11th round.

command inside the ring as well as outside, but that was when he boxed for a living instead of a hobby.

HAGLER WILL SET the tempo. He can either charge Leonard like he did against Thomas Hearns in their 1985 fight, or he can open cautiously as he normally does. Hagler will probably take the cautious route; there is no sense running into something early on in a fight he plans on winning by attrition.

Hagler will do his best to crowd Leonard, forcing the former welterweight and junior middleweight to exchange heavy blows. Leonard do it well for a few rounds.

When Hagler shrugs off punches that toppled 147- and 154-pounders, Leonard will begin to question the wisdom of ending a 35-month retirement to fight the middleweight champion.

"There's going to be a point in the fight where he says, 'Oh shoot, this isn't what I expected,'" Hagler said.

LEONARD WANTS TO capitalize on his speed to nail Hagler first, then either grab or slide to the side and spin the Hagler will attack Leonard's body early in the 12-round bout, concentrating more on slowing the challenger than scoring points. Over the second half of the bout, look for Hagler to turn up his intensity as the pressure of the night begins to affect Leonard.

From the ninth round on the fight will look like a middleweight against a welterweight, with Hagler's right jab and left follows backing Leonard to the ropes. Leonard will grow increasingly helpless until referee Richard Steele is forced to end the fight, probably in the 11th round.

Leonard should finish on his feet and without feeling em-

Hagler early and lead the fight in the early rounds. But Hagler, who was uncertain if he wanted to fight again a year ago, has too much pride and put too much work into his career to let it all slip away.

Hagler will make Leonard pay for most — if not all — his lapses Monday night. While Leonard should be spared a bad physical beating, the ego that brought him back for the challenge will suffer.

This is a fight that cannot live up to the hype, but it will have its moments.

Leonard, 30, can only win if Hagler has lost everything. Both have retained the spirit of a champion, and that should
